

Shouldn't there be a simple service allowing you to always receive your money instantly, regardless of clients' payment terms or administration processes?

We believe so. That's why Ework has designed PayExpress - a tailor-made service for our consultants designed for instant payment.

Instant Payment

This means that you receive your money upfront, regardless of the payment period at the end client, which usually ranges from 30 days to 120 days.

The purpose of PayExpress is to help make your life easier. You free capital, while reducing your administrative burden, thus letting you focus on your core business. In addition, with faster payment comes greater flexibility, and as an Ework consultant with PayExpress, you employ a payment service that puts you in control.

Simple, convenient & fast

We believe that receiving your money instantly should be easy. That is why we do not require any credit information from you to activate PayExpress. You simply submit your time report, which Ework verifies and approves. Usually - no more than two days later you have the money on your account – it's that simple.

Activate PayExpress

Independent consultants

For consultants who sign their own assignment agreements (and in which SelfBilling is applicable), it's possible to activate PayExpress on the contract by simply notifying your local Ework contact and it can always be deactivated if desired. In the event of only wanting PayExpress for a single invoice, activation is feasible by ticking a box when submitting the timesheet.

Consultant managers

Consultant managers can choose to activate PayExpress on as many contracts as desired. The most convenient way is by contacting Ework Support: support@eworkgroup.com

Activation in Ework Time for a specific invoice is only possible for consultants who sign their own assignments.*
